ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

A. P. Johnson of New York has leased the Windsor Inn and is to enter upon the management of the same at once.

A report is current that the Rev. Warren Morse, the pastor of the old First church at Bennington Center, will tender his resignation soon.

Prof. Solon Q. Bemis of Cavendish has just finished a violin, the top of which was taken from the old Ordway grist mill in Plymouth and is 105 years old.

Duplicate drawings of the map of Moretown, now Bradford, made in 1795 and showing the allotment of land to the original owners have been presented to the library at Bradford.

H. B. Shaw of Burlington was in the wreck on the Canadian Pacific railway near Hammond station Tuesday morning and crawled out of the overturned car in which the porter was killed.

William Roy of Richmond, Que., came to Island Pond Monday and recovered a dog that he said was stolen from him at Richmond fourteen months ago. The dog readily recognized its former owner.

Petitions are in circulation in Brattleboro addressed to the New England Telephone company, asking for an investigation of the local telephone service, with a view to improving the same.

Grant E. Rice, who has played with Swanton, Enosburg Falls and St. Albans base ball teams during the recently finished Franklin County league series, will leave St. Albans shortly to enter Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y.

Capt. James E. Stone of Cleveland, Ohio, supervisor of inspection of the ninth district, in company with the local inspectors, B. J. Holt and A. I. Goodhue, are inspecting the Lake Champlain steamers.

The barn on the river road in North Troy, belonging to Allan Griggs, was burned Monday night, together with his hogs and farm products. The fire is supposed to have caught by a lantern exploding.

During a recent thunder shower Mrs. C. C. Johnson of Townshend was struck by lightning while she was paring apples. The knife was thrown from her hand and she was rendered unconscious for a short time and partly paralyzed.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Seward Webb and Miss Frederica Webb, whose marriage to Ralph Pulitzer is set for next month, have left from their place in the Adirondacks for Shelburne Farms, their country seat in Vermont, where the wedding will take place.

There are at present four aged persons living in Proctorville whose aggregate ages are 355 years, and respectively are 95, 92, 86 and 83 years. The three last live within a few rods of each other, while the other is but a few minutes' walk away.

Burglars broke into the post office at Barton Landing early Wednesday, wrecked the safe with a charge of dynamite and carried away a small sum of money and some stamps. The door of the safe was blown through the side of the building. No trace of the burglars.

Charles H. Dixon, while driving from St. Albans to Gordon's Landing, on Grand Lake Tuesday, saw five deer. One old five-pronged buck stood in the swamp near the sandbar bridge and watched Mr. Dixon drive past without moving more than a few rods away. Mr. Dixon says the buck would easily scale 350 pounds.

A slight blaze occurred at the home of C. H. Sanborn in Swanton Monday. Mr. Sanborn was in the attic fixing the bricks in the chimney, when one brick fell and hit the lamp in his hand, breaking it on the floor. The oil spread over the rafters and caught fire by the time he had returned with a pail of water the room was filled with smoke. He succeeded in putting the fire out, however, after a few moments' hard work. The loss was fully covered by insurance.

At the village meeting at Morrisville called Tuesday evening to see if the voters would decide to continue the building of concrete sidewalks, it was voted to continue the walks the extent of the village limits on the Brooklyn side, on Jersey Heights, on Cheney avenue and to a considerable distance at the upper end of Main street. With the completion of these walks Morrisville's system of sidewalks will be one of which the village may justly be proud. The total work ordered this season will cost $7,500.

While two Guilford women were riding in a carriage recently, they began to notice a strong odor of burning cloth, which became more and more perceptible as they drove along. They soon found that their "dust robe" was on fire and already blazing at their feet. They had passed a portable sawmill, which was in full operation close by the roadside, and a spark must have fallen into their carriage and ignited the robe. Not long ago a Western paper gave an account of the fatal burning of a woman driving alone, her clothing being set on fire in precisely the same way.

Tuesday had been designed as field day for the Modern Woodmen of America in White River Junction and Hartford village as the scene of the exercises. The Hartford camp and the camp at North Hartland with delegations and visitors from Bradford, Woodstock, Quechee and other villages in this vicinity met at the public park in the afternoon and marched to the music of the Woodstock and Bridgewater bands to Hartford, where the exercises of the day took place. Base ball, races, tug of war and other athletic combats occupied the afternoon. At 7 o'clock in the evening there was a band concert, which was followed by an address on "Woodcraft," by Ralph E. Johnson of Lincoln, Neb., supreme organizer of the Modern Woodmen of America. Unpleasant weather prevented many from attending the exercises.

Marking Historic Spots.

Two historic spots at Bennington Center have been recently temporarily marked. One was the spot on which stood the printing house in which William Lloyd Garrison, the famous abolitionist, edited The Journal of the Times, 1828-29, and the other was the site of the first church built in Vermont. The society was formed as early as 1762, and the church was built two or three years later, with the Rev. Jedediah Dewey, or, as he was called, Parson Dewey, as pastor. Some years ago a distinguished artist and sculptor proposed to submit plans for a proper bronze memorial, consisting of a printing press, on the bed of which was a copy of The Journal of the Times, but at that time little encouragement was received from the Garrison family or the citizens of Bennington. On the site of the old church it has been proposed to erect a bronze canopied statue of Parson Dewey.

The Vermont Society of Sons of the American Revolution is discussing the subject of placing a memorial or marker on the spot where ex-Gov. Hillard Hall, in his Early History of Vermont, says the state of Vermont saw its birth, near where the house of Lieut. James Breckinridge stood. He settled in Bennington in 1763, and was elected a lieutenant two years later of the first military company organized. It was here that the settlers repulsed the first and only attempt of New York claimants to drive the settlers of Bennington from their New Hampshire Grants.

Not the Old Printer.

The Ludlow Tribune says items like the following are going the rounds of the state press:

"William F. Scott of Burlington completed on Thursday, August 24, his fiftieth year as printer, having also achieved success as editor and publisher during that time. He became an apprentice in the office of the St. Albans Messenger at the age of 17, 1855, and still may be found at the case in his 67th year. May he round out a century, a follower of 'the art preservative of all other arts.'"

Ludlow has a printer, Rufus S. Warner, who beats this record all to pieces. He was born in Weston in 1830, and has been a printer since 1844. He is therefore 75 years old and has been at the case for 61 years. More than that, he tells The Tribune man that he is very much alive and can do a good day's work yet.

Mr. Warner was one of the proprietors of The Ludlow Blotter and has been associated with several Ludlow publications. He is extraordinarily hale and vigorous for his age and has rounded out three-quarters of a century, all except 14 years of which have been spent at the case or actively employed about a printing office.

Getting Ready for Foot Ball.

The outlook for a successful foot ball season at the University of Vermont is encouraging. The first practice of the squad will be held next Monday afternoon, when a large number of candidates are expected to appear. Captain Gerrish has been informed that a number of new players of experience and ability will enter the university this fall and these, with the men left from last year's team, will make up an unusually large squad out of which Coach Drake will undoubtedly form a fast team.

Free to Farmers

In Bulletin No. 116, recently issued by the Vermont Agricultural Experiment Station, Formula No. 1 commends the following ingredients for fall seedling, without manure. The amounts named are for one acre:

Raw Ground Bone.....300 to 400 lbs.
Acid Phosphate.....100 to 150 lbs.
Wood Ashes.....300 to 400 lbs.
Muriate of Potash.....50 to 70 lbs.

To any farmer writing to C. S. Page, Hyde Park, Vt., saying that he saw this notice in the Barre Daily Times, Mr. Page will send a free sample of the above ingredients, excepting the ashes, and give the cost thereof laid down at the farmer's nearest station.

The Experiment Station Bulletin says: "On every account—financial, educational, agricultural—it is better to buy the crude stock and home mix if one uses a ton or more."

Any farmer who will send Mr. Page $2.25 will receive, freight prepaid, a sample 200-pound barrel of his Ground Bone. It is guaranteed to be an absolutely pure, natural Bone Meal. No valuable ingredients have been taken therefrom, as is the case with much of the bone meal now being offered to the public.

Nearly all the large fertilizer manufacturers make a bone glue by boiling their bones and extracting the gluten therefrom. Mr. Page's Bone Meal is a by-product from the manufacture of Page's Perfected Poultry Food, and is the bone flour sifted out from the granulated bone, which forms one of the principal ingredients of this Poultry Food. It is this fact that enables Mr. Page to furnish a pure Bone Meal at so low a price. Save your ashes and mix with this Bone Meal and you will find it worth double the cost.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
